EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Elizabeth Richter on 10/26/04.

The application has been amended as follows: Revise claims 1 and 6 as follows.

1. A connector which is mountable in/on a surface of a substrate and is connectable to a mating connector in a first direction perpendicular to the surface of the substrate, wherein the connector comprises an insulator, a plurality of contacts and a plurality of separate fixity members adjacent to the contacts; the insulator is formed with a plurality of first holding portions for holding the respective contacts and a plurality of second holding portions for holding the respective fixity members; the first and the second holding portions are arranged in a second direction perpendicular to the first direction; each of the contacts has a first held portion held by the corresponding one of the first holding portions, a first fixing portion for fixing the contact on the surface of the substrate, and a contact portion for being brought-into contact with contacts of the mating connector; and the fixity members serve to fix the insulator to the substrate in cooperation with the first fixing portions of the contacts, the connector being characterized in that:

each of the fixity members is made of the same material as the contacts and is comprised of a second held portion and a second fixing portion;

the second held portion has the same shape as the first held portion and is held by the corresponding one of the second holding portions of the insulator; and the second fixing portion has the same shape as the first fixing portion and is for fixing the fixity member on the surface of the substrate, the fixity members do not make electrical contact.

6. The connector according to claim 1, comprising at least two sets of the contacts and the fixity members, wherein the insulator is formed with two sets of the first and the second holding portions, the sets of the first and the second holding portions are arranged symmetrically in a third direction perpendicular to the first and the second directions, and each set of the first and the second holding portions holds the corresponding set of the contacts and the fixity members [in the manner defined in one of claims 1 to 4].

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The combination of claim 1 specifically the fixity members that do not make electrical contact and are shaped like part of the contacts. A definition of the term , "fixity" is attached.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. All the patents listed on the accompanying PTO-892 teach fixity members but they make electrical contact because they are monolithic with contacts. Except for McHugh but his fixity member makes electrical contact.

4. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Michael C. Zarroli whose telephone number is 571-272-2101. The examiner can normally be reached on 7:30 to 3:30 M-F.
